Seen & Heard Around Murray

Mrs. John Neubauer had one of those home accidents last week which resulted in a broken wrist.

She was up on this step ladder when along came this wasp. Mrs. Neubauer started backing down the ladder and did just fine until she reached the floor. She forgot a bucket which was on the floor and fell over it and broke her wrist.

She is doing ok but bemoans the fact that her garden is coming in and she could sure use two good hands for the next two or three weeks.

Out to hear Jack Staulcup Saturday night at the Calloway Country Club. A storm hit about an hour before he was to start and all the electricity in that area went off.

A supply of candles was brought out and the affair was held anyway. It was about 75 degrees and 100 per cent humidity. Coats were doffed in deference to the conditions, otherwise things were normal.

Jack, who has played in this area for thirty years or better, apologized for the lack of a PA system. This eliminated the vocals for which his band is noted. The current came back on about an hour before it was over, so some of these were rendered.

If this had been a modern band with everything from the guitars to the singers amplified, it would have been catastrophic, but since Jack plays 1942 music, it hardly hindered him a bit.

We've been wondering who presidential aspirant Eugene McCarthy reminded us of and it finally came to us. He looks and talks like Ray Milland the movie actor.

If all the married folks were as congenial and considerate of one another as Cleburn and Anna Mary Adams, the divorce courts would grind to a halt.

Kentucky Demos Have Big Job To Repair Party Fence

By JOHN GUINIVIN
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—Kentucky Democrats must now begin the task of bringing dissident party members back in line, to the fold before the November election. And that might not be an easy task.

About 400 supporters of U.S. Sen. Eugene McCarthy took part Saturday in a "planned walkout" at the state convention here, shortly after the convention voted to give all but 5 of its 46 delegate votes to Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

Gary R. Prichard, a Lexington newsman and leader of the Minnesota senator's forces in the 6th Congressional District, suggested Saturday's action may hurt state Democrats this November.

"The Democratic nominees running in the state are in great danger," he said. "We plan to show our dissatisfaction with the action of the party machine by crossing over to some of the more liberal Republicans this November."

Prichard added that "if Gene McCarthy bolts the party, we will be with him."

McCarthy backers, bolstered by several hundred boisterous supporters in the galleries, demanded 11 1/2 of the 46 delegate votes. They refused to enter into a compromise that would have given them 8 and wound up with 5.

"I honestly think we did the right thing in refusing the eight votes," McCarthy organizer William Billingsly, Fort Mitchell, said. "You might say we finished stronger with five than with eight."

Billingsly used an amendment to an organization committee report to introduce his slate of delegates. The slate would have assured 10 additional McCarthy delegate votes at the Chicago national convention next month.

Added to the 1 1/2 votes they

Coronary Unit Planned For Hospital

The Murray-Calloway County Heart Fund last week presented a check to the Murray Hospital for $2,000 to supplement Federal funds for a proposed intensive care unit for coronary patients.

Dr. Charles Mercer, in presenting the check said that "with this contribution the Murray-Calloway County Heart Fund feels that it is taking the most positive action in securing the best medical facilities for the treatment of local cardiac patients."

Murray-Calloway County Hospital has been awarded a grant in the amount of $38,811.00 for the establishment of a two bed intensive coronary care unit as a part of the developing Tennessee Mid-South Regional Medical Program. Dr. Stanley W. Olson, director of the Tennessee Mid-South Regional Medical Program and members of his staff have visited Murray and the five other communities which are participating in similar projects in the region.

Funds from the Regional Medical Program will enable the hospital to renovate space, purchase equipment and assist in training personnel to staff the two bed unit. During 1967 Murray-Calloway had 96 verified cases of myocardial infarction. The unit will be furnished with the most modern monitoring and therapeutic tools for the treatment of patients who experience an acute heart attack.

Open line telephone communications will be established between the local unit and a demonstration unit at Vanderbilt Hospital in Nashville. This will permit the medical director and nursing staff of the unit at Murray-Calloway to consult with the staff at the demonstration unit regarding specific problems.

Gaylon Windsor Succumbs As Operation Is Underway

Gaylon Boyd Windsor of Lynn Grove died Saturday at 10:30 p.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. His death was due to a stab wound in the heart, according to the official report made by Dr. Charles D. Scarborough to James Shelton, deputy coroner of Calloway County.

Windsor reportedly was stabbed in the heart Saturday about 9:30 p.m. at his home just east of Lynn Grove on Highway 94.

His brother, Buddy Windsor of Lynn Grove Route One, has been charged with wilful murder by law officials and is now in the Calloway County Jail.

Buddy Windsor brought his brother to the emergency room of the hospital after he was hurt, and Gaylon underwent emergency surgery but died on the operating table.

The goals of the conference are to involve entire communities in dealing with the problems of juvenile crime, to help young people develop definite plans of action for dealing with this problem in their own communities... this is more than a citizenship awareness conference and to generally get young people and through them, adults, to think about crime in a new way — a way that makes its existence and need for attention everybody's problem.

Coffee Cup Chatter

Hot dogs and mustard are year-round U.S. fare, whether you have them at a hot weather picnic or a cold weather football game. Don't be reckless with that hot dog-and-mustard as you cheer your favorite team this summer. Mustard causes one of the most stubborn of all stains to remove. What looks like a little yellow spot to you is actually a combination of salt, spices, oil, vinegar, tannin, turmeric, and possibly oxidized oil. Your dry cleaner must take 14 difficult spot-removal steps before that little yellow spot disappears according to the National Institute of Dry-cleaning. See how much trouble one little spot of mustard can cause? Next time you say, "With mustard please," be careful to keep the mustard away from your clothes. — Mrs. Catherine Thompson.

Oh! how we hate to clean ovens — Don't let your oven get grimy. After you cook a food that is especially spatter, soak racks as soon as possible in a solution of degreaser and water. Use a sponge or household cleaning pad which has been dunked in a degreaser and apply to the inside of the oven. Let the cleaning solution set to do its best work, then rinse racks and oven inside with hot water. Let oven dry completely before using. — Mrs. Barletta Wraether.

"Art is important to people just like science is." Home Economics is both an art and a science, therefore, it has a double impact on the lives of people. There's something about beauty that influences the hearts and minds of people. It soothes and releases tension. It charms the imagination. It penetrates the humdrum of life, and lifts the mind beyond earth's boundaries. — Mrs. Maxine Griffin.

Selecting canned fruits. For desserts, you may prefer fruits canned in heavy sirup. But for salads, fruits canned in light sirup are just as good. The sirup can be used in gelatin salads or desserts without adding too much sweetness. Water-packed fruits and fruits canned with non-nutritive sweeteners help dieters cut calories. Canned fruits-pie fillings — already thickened, sweetened, and spiced — save time. — Miss Patricia Everett.

If you have prints and paintings on your walls, rearrange them, or move them from one room to the other. This will make it seem that you've done more redecorating than you have. — Mrs. Juanita Amonett.

Public Speaking is an activity which gives 4-H members an opportunity to research an idea in which they are interested, to organize their material so it will be meaningful and interesting to their audiences, and to present it to different audiences upon several occasions. — Mrs. Dean Roper.

Help your child learn — Children are born with a desire to know things, to find out things. They have many questions. They want to taste, to feel, and to handle things. A child is hungry to learn. You should feed this hunger just like you feed your child's body. Take time to answer his questions. Give him good toys to play with. He should play with other children part of the time. Read to your child. Give him books with pictures. Spend some time telling him stories. Let him make up stories about things and people. This will help him use words better. — Miss Irma Hamilton.

Does monosodium glutamate have any food value? It is used only for flavoring, and the amounts consumed are too small to make any worthwhile contribution to the ordinary diet. It is one of the more concentrated sources of sodium, however, and would not be permitted in diets in which sodium intake must be kept low. — Miss Frances Hanes.

A new line of washers and dryers has a special metal frame that trims the doors. It is designed to hold panels of decorative materials. In addition to the decorative fronts, the laundry pair features a special cycle for permanent press.

carried in pocket or purse. It's an aerosol-operated siren you activate by pressing. The manufacturer says the noise it makes is so piercing and penetrating that any intruder or would-be attacker is stunned senseless the moment this shattering ultra-sound reaches his ear drums. The manufacturer also says the noise can be heard for half a mile.

Noise, Another Hazard — WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Calling noise a nuisance is like calling smog an inconvenience," Surgeon General William H. Stewart of the U.S. Public Health Service said at opening sessions of the first National Conference on Noise as a health hazard.

"Noise must be considered a hazard to the health of people everywhere," he said. Stewart pointed out that many people make the mistake of trying to endure rather than trying to eliminate smog for years because they did not realize the danger to health air pollution posed. Noise, it was stated, is now being shielded by a similar cloak of indifference.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Take a boxy room and unsquare it with paint. Make one wall the focal point with the application of a bright or warm paint color. This brightly painted surface—in contrast with a paler, cooler hue on the other three walls—will attract the eye and give the illusion that the wall is closer to the observer than it actually is.

Linseed oil finish is the popular choice of many homeowners. This finish may be applied to unfinished wood, and tends to darken the color. Though not highly water resistant, a linseed oil finish will withstand hot dishes. It is also less apt to show scratches than a varnish finish. This type of finish is more time consuming to apply, but it leaves the wood with a beautiful, mellow luster.

To make a narrow window seem wider, use a brightly colored, textured window shade. Then, cover a pair of tall, fingered screens to place on either side of the window with extra yardage of the same shade cloth. For further linear definition, outline shades, screens, and window moldings with contrasting braid.

To assure the best cooling from any air conditioning unit, it must be installed correctly. Window-mounted units require a good, tight seal between the cabinet and the window frame to keep out hot air and increase cooling efficiency. Since free circulation of air is essential, filters should be cleaned periodically to take out airborne pollen, dust, and particles that clog their cells. Avoid blocking free flow of air with furniture, lest the furniture is cooled at the expense of the atmosphere of the room.

Time for Wife to Face Facts

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Norbert [made up name] used to come right home after work until about six months ago. Then the excuses started coming: "The clock at work was slow. I stayed to help a buddy. Car trouble. I had to stop at the hardware store."

Norbert is always somewhere from an hour to two hours late. I am afraid to ask him for the truth because I think there is another woman in the picture. Abby, I love Norbert and he used to love me. We have three kids, and I don't want to lose him. I've been a good wife to him and I don't know where I have failed. We married young [I was 17 and he was 18]. I was his first and only girl and maybe he is getting a taste of life he never had before. Please tell me what to do. I have no proof and I'm afraid to ask him. END OF ROPE

DEAR END: You MUST ask him. Fearing "the truth" won't solve anything. First, find out what went wrong with your marriage, then set about to correct it. You may need some counseling, in which case don't delay. Get it now.

DEAR ABBY: Do you believe in love at first sight?

THEO

DEAR THEO: No. But I do believe in taking a second look.

DEAR ABBY: A woman who works with me says that you will not use a letter in your column unless it is signed in full by the person who wrote it. I say you will. And how about those letters signed, "DESPERATE, CURIOUS, MIXED UP," etc.? Do people really sign their letters that way, or is that your own way of keeping them anonymous?

Also, I'd like to know if you ever answer letters personally without putting them in your column?

LONG TIME READER

DEAR READER: Unsigned letters receive the same consideration for publication in my column as signed letters. If the writer asks that his name and location be kept confidential, I respect his wishes by signing his letter, "DESPERATE, CURIOUS, MIXED UP," etc. But some letters are signed that way. All letters accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope are answered personally.

DEAR ABBY: These friends of mine went on a two-week vacation, and the lady left the key to her apartment with me so I could go there and check up on things while they were away. Well, I went there a couple of times and decided that I would help her out by cleaning it up a little. [Abby, the apartment was filthy, but it's always that way.] After I cleaned it up I got this awful feeling that maybe I shouldn't have, but I just wanted to give it a good cleaning to set an example for her. Do you think I did the right thing or not?

WANTS TO KNOW

DEAR WANTS: Since it is always "filthy," you probably should have left things the way they were.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90063 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ZEBRA STRIPES worked on the horizontal and diagonal fashions this ultra smart, mid-length, leather-belted fur coat suggested for daytime and casual wear. Leather binding edges double-breasted front and the flattering collar.

By TAD ROWADY

WITHOUT a doubt, furs do give a woman a pampered feeling. Aside from their sumptuousness, furs are smart, warm and, now, often shyer fun. Styles can be gay, young, understated or dramatic depending, of course, on the designer's ingenuity. At one time furs were strictly functional. The tave-

BLACK SHEARED minkratt swaggar coat is trimmed dramatically at hem, collar and cuffs with wide bands of black fox. Broadly belted it has new 1968 look in its slim bodice and slightly flared skirt and makes fine "second fur coat".

Even that has changed. Furs are for you, whether you are a housewife or socialite. And, no matter what your way of life, there is a wide selection of furs and fur combinations in all price brackets to those from for all occasions including leisure wear and evening gowns.

BERMUDA SHORTS and long, sleeveless jacket in unusual combination of natural marmot fur striped with white lamb inserts make chic, fun ensemble for both active and spectator sports wear. French-cuffed blouse adds an extra touch.

Mrs. Markham To Retire

RETIREMENT MOMENTO... Mrs. Annie Parrish Markham, a member of the Murray State University English department for 10 years, shows Dean William G. Nash the silver tray the department gave her. Mrs. Markham will retire August 21 after teaching during the August inter-session.

Mrs. Annie Parrish Markham, a member of the English department at Murray State University for 10 years, will retire August 21.

Mrs. Markham, who came to Murray in 1958, has visited many of the places written about in the literature and mythology courses she teaches at Murray State.

During her 42 years of teaching English in grade school, high school, junior college, college, and university, she has traveled extensively in Europe and the Middle East.

She has studied at the University of Edinburgh and the University of London and a t Pierce College in Athens, Greece, during sabbatical leaves.

She particularly remembers the Athens trip in 1966 with the Hellenic Institute sponsored by the University of Colorado. She vividly recalls class trips to the oracle at Delphi; Olympia, birthplace of the Olympic games; the ruins at Delos Island; the temple of Neptune at Sunion; the island of Crete where the legendary Minos and the Minotaur lived; and the island of Rhodes, where Paul traveled in Biblical times.

After the Athens excursion, her husband, the Rev. O.C. Markham, joined her and they went to Palestine for a sight-seeing trip. She still is called upon by various groups and organizations to talk about her trip and show slides of the country.

Among other countries she has visited are Scotland, Ireland, Spain, Morocco, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Switzerland, Hungary, Italy, and Austria.

Born in McNeil, Miss., she earned the B.A. degree at Belhaven College in Jackson, Miss. She holds the M.A. degree in English and Latin from Tulane University and the Ed. M. degree from Harvard University.

Mrs. Markham is remembered by many people in the Western Kentucky area for her work at Bethel Junior College in Hopkinsville. While there, from 1929 to 1942 and from 1946 to 1955, she taught English and was sponsor of the annual alumni news.

In addition, she started the first chapter of Chi Delta Phi, an honorary fraternity for writers, both there and at Murray State College. She has been associated with Chi Delta Phi for 30 years and has served as national editor and secretary.

She is also a member of the National Education Association, the Kentucky Education Association, the National Council of Teachers of English, the American Association of University Women, and was a member of Kappa Delta Pi while at Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn. She was recently named to Tapp's "Kentucky Lives" and to Marquis' "Who's Who of American Women."

During her career, she has also taught at Arlington and Millburn schools in Carlisle County; Webb Junior High School in Mayfield; Leslie Junior College, near Harvard University; Bennett Junior College, Millbrook, N.Y.; Vermont Junior College, Montpelier, Vt.; All Saints Junior College, Vicksburg, Miss.; and Avery Hill College in London.

The year at Avery Hill was part of the exchange program for teachers and supervisors, sponsored by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Out of 1400 applicants, only 100 were selected for the trip.

Mrs. Markham and her husband reside on Wilson Drive in the Fairlane Subdivision in Mayfield. They have a son, Charles, who is regional supervisor for World Book in Lexington.

Mrs. Markham says of her marriage in the spring of 1957, "It was what every woman dreams of. I got a husband, a son, and a house all in one fell swoop."

When she retires in August, she plans to become the librarian of Midcontinent Baptist Bible College, her husband's college for preachers in Mayfield.

She has taken some 30 semester hours of library science courses and has had experience in cataloging books in preparation for the position.

One of the main reasons she plans to become librarian is the fact that she will be surrounded by the things she has loved since childhood... books.

When asked where she plans to do when she quits teaching, she replied that she looks forward to working with her garden, antiques, and her home in Mayfield.

Later on, she says she may write a book on South Mississippi where she grew up. Currently she is planning a handbook for English teachers traveling overseas. The book will contain facts and pictures on what to see, where to stay, what to take, and the best times to go.

KY. DEMOS...

became visibly annoyed at several tactics of the McCarthy standard-bearers, made at least two concessions—the largest one being the abolition of the rule.

By a near unanimous vote, the Democrats did away with committed delegations at the convention. The decision was greeted by cheers from McCarthy delegates on the floor and their forces in the galleries.

However, since 41 delegate votes are known to favor Humphrey, the McCarthy supporters will not benefit by the decision.

The second concession came when party regulars decided against opposing a resolution critical of the Kentucky Un-American Activities Committee.

The resolution called for "every Democrat to work toward the abolition" of the UAC created by a resolution in the 1968 General Assembly and allowed to become law by Gov. Louie B. Nunn.

CORONARY UNIT...

Six nurses will receive special training in coronary nursing and may from time to time take additional training in some of the advanced programs being established by the Tennessee Mid-South Regional Medical Program. The medical staff of the unit will have the opportunity to broaden their knowledge in coronary care by utilizing the teaching facilities of the Vanderbilt School of Medicine Continuing Education Center.

The primary purpose of establishing an intensive coronary care unit at Murray-Calloway is to reduce the mortality rate from myocardial infarction. If the experience of this unit proves to be comparable to that of similar units in larger cities the mortality rate should be cut in half.

Murray-Calloway's coronary care unit is one of eleven such units to be founded by the Tennessee Mid-South Regional Medical Program.

In 1965 Congress authorized the establishment of Regional Medical Programs throughout the United States to study and combat heart disease, cancer and stroke. The Tennessee Mid-South Regional Medical Program, which covers Middle and East Tennessee and a portion of Southern Kentucky, was founded for planning purposes in August 1966. In addition to the eleven coronary care units funded by the Regional Medical Program there are 17 other projects pertaining to these diseases that are in various states of implementation.

In early February of this year the National Institutes of Health funded 28 projects which are being implemented by local communities in cooperation with the Tennessee Mid-South Regional Medical Program in the amount of $1,490,000 (direct cost).

SEEN & HEARD...

Watching TV the other day and this panel comes on to talk about "what's wrong with young people today."

The participants included a Negro who hated white people, was a member of the Black Panthers, and said white people were his enemies; a hippie from the west coast who was against the "establishment"; a girl who reportedly was a college graduate but who was unable to speak coherently or intelligently; and a young man with some sense who had attempted to keep from being taken into the left wing student strikers (who commanded an administration building) at a west coast college.

The Negro said he hated white people because white people are responsible for conditions among Negroes today. Now, he might hate the white people 100 years ago who sold slaves, but we certainly never sold a slave, nor bought one. Nor would we.

He did not say that he also hated the African chieftans who had as much to do with slavery as any white man. If he would read his history books he would find that African chieftans raided the villages of his enemies, carted off the people of the village wholesale, took them to the coast and sold them to slavery dealers. He profited in two ways. He eliminated an enemy village and made money too.

If Africans had put up a united front against the traders in human flesh, slavery would not have progressed as fast as it did.

The hippie had a good mind, but it was warped and twisted. He expected the world to hand him a living, and about all he was conscious of was that he was against any conformity. We do not like conformity, as such, either, but if one is to live with other people, he must conform to a certain point at least.

The girl made no sense at all and indeed could not even be understood as she mumbled and slurred her meaningless remarks. The young man on the left did ok.

NBC might do the people a better service if they got off this publicizing screwballs and put the picture on young people who are in the majority who do things, who serve their nation, who are responsible citizens, and who are realists.
